HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS SUCCESSFULLY PRODUCE BENNETT'S "MILESTONES"

Quaint, picturesque, humorous, sagacious with a very strong current of human interest running through it, was the play "Milestones" as staged by "Company" of High School students in the Memorial Hall Tuesday evening.

For amateurs, the various actors and actresses were wonderfully good and each represented his or her role with a truthfulness and understanding which reflected not only the actors own ability, but the minute and painstaking care on the part of the directors.

Both humor and pathos, of which the story is full, was well and sympathetically entered into and established a contact with the audience which proved stronger than most would care, the enjoyment which the play was creating.

The first act pictures the costumes worn, the vein of thought, the costume in vogue, and the furnishing of a drawing room in the year 1860. The dresses and hair-dressing styles of that period were quite pretty and well, for comfort and rules of health, we might not care to revert to them, nevertheless, they possess a charm of their own.

The dialogue between John Hiram and Samuel Sibley in the first act, when each maintaining the justice of his own belief, and the earnestness with which Hiram proclaimed his faith in the future of righteousness as superior was very well maintained.

Gertrude Hiram and Rose Sibbey were each most winsome and charming, and quite a touch of modernity was given in Gertrude declaring she would not have a husband with whom she could not argue. Mrs. Hiram, assuming the roll of a mother who would be at times stern, was a fair stretch of the imagination to portray the "real thing".

Ned Pym was always amusing, with his struggle with his eye glass and monstachio to keep in place. Notwithstanding this he had a large part to play, and played it well. One was surprised, knowing the youth of the actor, to learn how mature he could become.

The second scene or Milestone is 1885. Some of the same actors appear on the stage, grown somewhat older, and new ones are introduced. Here, Emily Hiram, as the daughter of the emigrated views, plays her part as victoriously well as the first. Nann Sibley, who as the wife of Samuel Sibley, is much concerned over domestic matters in the family generally.

In this scene, and in the next, Ann Gertrude, who has become somewhat saddened by the turn in events in her life, tries to pour out her sorrows to Ned Pym, and exhorts each to show a greater spirit of tolerance. Arthur Prentice, a clever young scientist, also enters on the stage in this act. His part is also very well played.

The third act is in 1912. The change in the age of the characters, the new set were just entering the threshold of life, is interesting.

In this act other new characters are introduced. Lord Mohandah, the boy and "dandy" of the family, who commits a grave breach of etiquette by being late for dinner. Thompson, a boy for whom he waits to take his hat and gloves and stick. Thompson, in all three acts, takes the part of the hero in a very interesting manner.

Introduced here also are the Honorable Mr. Pym and Richard Sibley, who make the third party, who desire to decide for themselves a two to one.

TWO DESTROYERS BUILDING FOR CANADIAN NAVY
OTTAWA, Ont.—Canada's navy, now limited to a couple of destroyers and a few mine-sweepers, is due to be practically doubled by 1931 when two new destroyers are to be delivered.

The new destroyers, of the Amazon class, are now under construction at the Thornycroft ship works, Southampton, England.

A novel feature of the new war does is that they are designed to withstand the rigors of frequent changes in climate "swart" the hulls will find in their patrol of the vast Canadian shore line on both oceans.

In the past it has been found that the extremes of climate "swart" the hulls of ships in both summer and winter.

The two ships, which are of the latest type, and the first war vessels to be ordered and built as such by the Canadian government. They are four 47 inch guns, two anti-aircraft weapons and two triple 21-inch torpedo tubes. They are 320 feet long, with a speed of 35 knots and will carry 150 officers and men. The contract was awarded for $3,550,000.

TOWN COUNCIL PASSED 46 MILL RATE FOR 1929

PLEASENT SUPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY

Thursday, May 16th, Mrs. Herson and Miss Person invited a number of their friends to join with them in celebrating the birthday of Mr. Anton Person, and spend a happy evening together.

The guests, numbering about twenty-five, extended heartfelt congratulations and sincere wishes for many more birthdays, when they might be together again.

Bridge was played during the early part of the evening, the holders of the high score being Mrs. Voss and Mr. Van Tighem.

Choice refreshments were served from a very prettily arranged table having as centre piece a large birthday cake. Surrounding this cake were several beautiful birthday gifts which were presented to Mr. Person.

Following this, dancing was much enjoyed.

Those invited were: Mr. and Mrs. Geo. T. Berry, Mr. and Mrs. Joe. Van Tighem, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Voss, Gary, Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Bouscaw, Gay, Connel and Mrs. S. C. Best, Calvary, Mr. and Mrs. A. Hecle, Mr. and Mrs. John Montague, Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Corwell, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Moore, Mrs. Gladys Morgan, Mr. Hugh Berry, Mrs. M. Montague, Frank Corwell and Billy Morgan.

The new vessels will take the place of the Patriot and Patrician, which were discarded just over a year ago.

The latter two, together with the light cruiser Aurora, were presented to Canada by Britain after the war. The Aurora, which bore on her hull, marks of German shells from the battle of the Jutland, was retired several years before the Patriot and Patrician.

The present active fighting ships are the destroyers Champlain and Vancouver.

The subject of the "Canadian navy" has frequently produced a subject for somewhat bitter discussion. In some quarters the view is taken that Canada should turn her whole naval contributions into the British army, which in turn would serve as her sole protection in times of stress.

For four years prior to the war the subject assumed first-rate proportions in public discussion.

The building of the new destroyers cannot be said to involve any real change in the naval policy of the Dominion. Whatever else they do they will supply a good many youngsters with a first-hand taste of the sea.

Lines for a cold cut of the new destroyers will look like they will be ready for service 1931, now being built by Thornycroft, Southampton, England. They are of the Amazon type, shown above. The two war craft are to be 320 ft. long with a speed of 35 knots and will carry crews of 150 men and officers.

A meeting of the Strathmore Town Council was held on Tuesday night, Mayor Shrimpton, Councilors Cull, Minor, Hudson, Taylor and Garrett present, and the minutes were read and confirmed.

The Secretary reported that the proceedings against the school (No. 76) had been dropped, and that the company had executed a quit claim deed for the lots on Second Street, and that the same were now being disposed with the other town securities.

Mr. Wears reported the receipt of $25.35 from the Girl Guides, the amount of the Tag Day receipts.

The new Councilor, M. B. Garrett, signed the declaration of office, and was given the "big size" by T. J. Wears, which permits him to join in the festivities for the balance of the term of the late Councilor P. J. Crandall.

M. S. Hittle furnished an estimate of the probable cost of a sewerage system for an auto park, and the Council decided to ask for tenders for building same.

Councilor Cull was granted permission to erect a small stable at the rear of his shop.

Mrs. Kearns was given the privilege of erecting a booth at the baseball grounds from which to serve refreshments.

Bylaw No. 186 was read and after the Council had gone over the estimate for the year. The mill rate will be the same as 1928, which was 46 mills and 4 mills supplementary rate. The 46 mills require a revenue of approximately $19,000, which provides $16,000 required by the Board and $3,000 for the Town expenses.

In 1926 and 1927 the mill rate was 20 mills, since which time the town has been provided with electric street lighting, and still the rate is kept down to 50 mills, which should meet the hearty appreciation of the ratepayers.

The week of June 3rd to 8th was decided upon to carry on Empire Shopping Week, and the Council, in conjunction with the Canadian Legion, will award a flag for the best dressed shop window, that the merchants produce.

Mayor Shrimpton expressed his appreciation of the efficient work done by the M. D. How Valley grading machine at the very nominal cost of $75.

C. W. Chase was present, and very kindly offered trees free, sufficient to supply all that will be required from the Sacred Heart Church on Third Street, to Second Avenue, and the same the town to arrange for the removal from his "farm", and the planting of the trees, and claims to take an option on the services of the water required.

The arrangements to be planting of the trees in the hands of Mayor Shrimpton and Councilors Cull and Garrett.

Chief McFarland had informal talk with the merchants in regard to Fire Department affairs.

ORATORICAL CONTEST
At Toronto on Wednesday night the International Oratorical Contest was held, resulting in Roche Pinnard, of Joliet, Quebec, a pupil at the seminary of St. Joseph, of St. Boniface, Manitoba, third.

DETROIT—George Uhle, who went directly from the sandlots of Cleveland to the Indians in 1919 and pitched for them for ten straight years, is wearing a strange uniform this year, and the change in talent has done him good. For George was traded to the Filiver City team last December for Taveger and Holloway, and very often pitching for a new club or a new manager revives old habits or new needs of greatness.

Busby Harris, Uhle's new boss, has been especially successful in rejuvenating supposedly done-for pitchers, and it will be very interesting to see how Big George gets along in 1929. During his last two seasons with Cleveland he won 20 and lost 26 games, while in 1926 he won 27 and lost 11. Quite a difference there, and look further back in his record and you will see that two years preceded his last good season, which may or may not mean that he is due for a big year in 1929.

George Uhle has always been one of the best hitters among the pitchers, and, as a hurler, has had unusual success in striking out Babe Ruth, of whom you have probably heard.

W. T. Waggoner, of Texas, owner of the Three D's stable, is considering a race meeting, to be held at Fall with a $150,000 derby as the big feature. The Waggoner ranch is between Dallas and Fort Worth, easily accessible from either city. If the plan goes through the "Texas Derby" will be the world's richest race. Mr. Waggoner made his money in oil and has plenty to insure the proposed meeting financially backed.

SPORT NOTES

HAL. MCKINNEY A FAVORITE

IS DEMPSEY FINISHED?

One of the top choices for the $25,000 purse stake to be raced at the July meeting at the Toledo track comes from the farm of the motor magnate Henry Ford, at Dearborn, Mich. This is the bay gelding, Hal McKinney (2:06 1/4), a pacer with a clean record during the 1928 season, racing mainly over the half-mile tracks.

At the time the horse was winning so regularly last season it was reported that he was the property of Edsel Ford, son of the motor magnate; but later this was denied and the horse raced as the property of Ray Dahlinger, superintendent of the Ford farm, where for some years, over a half life course, Ford and his friends have indulged in weekend matinee racing, several fast recent horses having performed in the event on the Dearborn track.

Hal McKinney didn't commence racing last year until August 16, when he cashed in an easy race on an Ohio half-mile track in 2:11 1/2. Then he won a $500 purse at Hamburg, N.Y., in which he passed in 2:09 1/4. This he followed up with wins in $1,000 purses at Dunkirk and Batavia, N.Y., posting two heats in 2:08 1/4 at Dunkirk. He was then shipped back to the Michigan half-mile tracks and won the first of all purse events at Jackson and Northville and the 2:12 pace at Hillsdale, the third heat in 2:08 1/4, at Jackson. All of these races were over half-mile tracks, and he was not beaten a heat.

The only time that Hal McKinney tangled real close was at the October meeting at Toledo, following the close of the Grand Circuit at Lexington. Here he was asked to meet some Grand Circuit stars, including Transmug (2:02 1/4), Princess Troquet (2:02 1/4), Myrtle Baxter (2:02 1/4) and Beekie Beall (2:04 1/4), all good winners, the main line. They all looked alike to a bash horse; he took the lead at the start of each heat and showed them all the way, the time 2:06 1/4, 2:06 1/4, and 2:04 1/4.

Hal McKinney is a son of Bruce, one of the McKinney family and which aired in Vero, 2:03 1/4, a pace which raced very successfully a few seasons back, mainly on the two-lap tracks. This season he is to tackle the best state horses in the country. In his races at Toledo last fall he looked the part of a very high-class racing tool. He is being trained by James Piper, a craftsman whose operations have been confined mainly to the minor tracks.

PLANS $150,000 DERBY

W. T. Waggoner, of Texas, owner of the Three D's stable, is considering a race meeting, to be held at Fall with a $150,000 derby as the big feature. The Waggoner ranch is between Dallas and Fort Worth, easily accessible from either city. If the plan goes through the "Texas Derby" will be the world's richest race. Mr. Waggoner made his money in oil and has plenty to insure the proposed meeting financially backed.

CHICAGO—Leo P. Flynn, the man who trained Jack Dempsey for his fight with Jack Sharkey and Gene Tunney when the former champion essayed his comeback in 1927, is positive Dempsey never will fight again. Inasmuch as Flynn is closer to Dempsey than any other person since the death of Tex Rickard, Leo's information is worth something to those who are wondering whether or not the old Manassas Mauler will make another attempt to regain the crown.

You can bet all the tea in China Dempsey never will fight again," says Flynn. "The old boy isn't as careful about his diet as he was in the days when he was active. He trains but little and eats regardless of sugar, fat and starchy elements, and partakes of more food than is good for the general health of a boxer. Jack's waistline is increasing very noticeably and he is developing a double chin, but these things don't worry him at all, which leads me to think he has abandoned all thought of training for a comeback. Jack has gone in for smoking, too, and smokes cigars as clear as a c-note. Of course, he will keep the newspapers and public gawking as long as possible regarding his intention to come back, but he has no intention of doing so. He is a source of wonder to the sports writers learn he is through forever as an active participant in ring matters. You can tell the men who know that Dempsey never will fight again. I know what I am talking about when I make this statement."

Strathmore Defeated Gleichen Sunday

The baseball season opened on Sunday with a game between Gleichen and Strathmore in which the local diamond artists succeeded in coming under the wire a winner, score 7 to 6. There was a splendid crowd present, and a long up game presented, especially so early in the season. Eddie Crellin was curve dispenser to the local team, and did excellent work. West was given a chance to show his line of samples, but the Gleichen boys liked them far too well, so manager Koch brought the reliable Eddie back, and the game was saved in the seventh inning by a beautiful three-bagger by Eddie Crellin, with the bases full. In the last inning Eddie avished three of the Gleichen boys.

"Buck" Fortner, the popular Carman (writer) officiated most efficiently as umpire, proving that he is almost as good an umpire as he is a pitcher, and I guess that is saying something. The pleasure of the game was much marred by the almost insulting remarks made by a number of local youths to the players of the visiting team. Parents should train their boys to be courteous, or if that is impossible, chain them up in the back yard. In many cases it is a matter of thoughtlessness on the part of the over enthusiastic youths, rather than

THE ELECTRICAL KID

The following poem which was picked up on "Mosquito Road" in British Columbia, apparently was a real efforting effort of one or more of the local poets of the fair sex.

The finder returned it to the Standard in the hope that through wide circulation that possibly that the one to whom it was sent, may learn that at least two or more hearts, probably more, in Strathmore were "biting true", and still believe that the "Crumb Boss" will forsake the Swedish girl who lives in the Hills, and rush to Strathmore for May 24th, where one may sleep with feet under the covers, and where the mosquitoes never treat one rough, nor condescend to mingle with the wisp.

"The Electrical Kid"
When the golden sun sinks in the hills,
And the toll of my electrical work is over,
I drive to my cabin in our telephone truck.

Only to rest my eyes upon mosquitoes and wood ticks,
Mingled with a wasp here and there.

With these creatures, biting me every where
I cannot come to contentment at rest.

And the pleasures of life are all alarm ed away,
When I wake in the morning only to find,

That my poor bare feet rested in snare during the night.

There are places I'd rather be in,
Such as Strathmore, Basanto and Brooks,
Where one may rest at peace,
And not be the "Crumb Boss".
For this Canal Flat Electrical Gang.

My Swedish girl, up in these hills,
I find is very nice indeed.

But I can tell you boys, she's not in "it".
With "the side" of the prairie,
Way down in dear old Strathmore.

My heart longs for that town,
If I count the hours 'till I shall have
This cabin, this fire, this short camp out.

These mosquitoes, wasps and wood ticks,
And sleep with my feet under the covers once more.

That they wish to give such an exhibition of conduct unbecoming of a good sportsman.

The baseball management would be well advised to notify either young or old offenders that they will be released on probation to the games if their conduct is not much improved. Real baseball fans recent such tactics.

TOM COWAN RETURNING NORTH DESPITE LOSS OF BOTH LEGS
TORONTO.—The pole star is evidently an irresistible magnet. The far north could not give to anyone rougher treatment than it gave to Tom Cowan, an indomitable prospector. It took the life of his partner, Joe Rutherford, and deprived Cowan himself of both legs, which had been so badly frozen that they had to be amputated when, after a trek of several hundred miles, he staggered last September into Baker Lake, on the west side of Hudson Bay.

He has spent the winter in Toronto, acclimating himself to his new artificial limbs. But he is through with the north. Far from it. He is impatiently counting the days until winter definitely relaxes its grip of the Hudson Bay watershed and until he will be able to go to Sioux Lookout, Ont.

Never again will he be able to put 150 pounds on his back and leap from rock to rock. Still less will he be able to kneel in a canoe and fight white water.

But he is still on the active force of Jack Hammett's invasion of the north. A mere trifle like the loss of two legs has given him no desire to seek a discharge from northern service. At Sioux Lookout, which is now the main air base of the Northern Aerial Minerals Exploration, Hammett's organization which is now "backing" the north, there still be plenty of opportunity for him to utilize his knowledge of rocks. The North may have thought that it had beaten Tom Cowan, but legless, he is going back.

"They all go back," said he. "It is a wonderful country, with a powerful fascination. It has its risks and dangers, but you can't expect to escape scot free all the time. And there is no more danger in the Arctic than there is in the bush country. Every time you step in a canoe you take a chance. So I have no grudge against the Arctic. I feel I was lucky to get out alive."

You know "Chillville"—of course you do! Hatch has a national reputation for making a very fine soup. Proof of course, on Saturday. A customer called and ordered soup, and during the next three hours repeated the order fourteen times, and while leaving told the genial proprietor that he was delighted with the service, and that he had some business to look after up town, and that he would be back shortly and have a real meal.

Among the busy people of the Box Valley in the matter of community work may be mentioned Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Pinkerton. "Pink", as he is popularly called, is President of the Namaka U.F.A., Secretary of the Wheat Pool, Secretary of the U.F.A., and also Principal of the Royal Arch Masonic Chapter at Strathmore; while Mrs. Pinkerton is Vice-president of the U.F.W.A., and Past Master of the Gleichen Chapter of the Eastern Star Order. HOW FRIGIDAIRE COLD CONTROL WAS OBTAINED

(Special To The Standard)

The inside story of how the famous Frigidaire Cold Control came to be a part of that electric refrigerator industry that the path of engineering progress often has its beginning under the roof of a mechanically inclined householder with a bent for amateur experiments. Back in the days when the installation of an electric refrigerator in a home was a topic of discussion for blocks in every direction, the proud user found that he had a plaything much more absorbing than an automobile, according to E. A. Lowden, Canadian Manager of Frigidaire Corporation. Some rose to the opportunity in a grand way. By changing the temperature switch with the family screw driver they found they could run up the box temperature to cut down operating costs and run it down to build up an ice cube reserve.

As the switch was not designed to produce such minor acrobatics trouble often followed. Users were cautioned to leave it alone. Finally the company covered the switch with a tight metal cover.

But everywhere amateur temperature adjustments responded to such advice with discovering untimely. Switches were used to block the switch so it would not shut off. Some ran wires under the switch cover, to accomplish the same result. Others, whose genius led to voltage discovery, got by installing a short circuiting snap switch they could get the same results. No one particular temperature was sought. What was wanted was a choice of all temperatures.

Dealers and salesmen argued that an electric refrigerator should be operated at a constant box temperature—somewhere below 50 degrees where food spoilage begins—but where ice cubes can be produced in the freezing compartment between meals. They advised users to leave the switch adjustment alone.

The situation was intensified when hundreds of thousands of women began to experiment in the preparation of frozen desserts in their electric refrigerators. Many of these delicate recipes required unusually low temperatures for successful making.

Back went the match or wire into place, and again the service man was called to restore normal temperatures. Then factory engineers completed some research and experiments they had been conducting for several years and the Frigidaire Cold Control was the result. This device is not merely a temperature adjustment for the food compartment but is primarily designed for controlling freezing speeds in the dessert and ice making trays and is capable of producing near-zero temperatures at the turn of a handle. And it enables the user to restore normal refrigeration temperatures without calling in expert assistance—a temperature adjustment for the

A Great Car for Women to drive

The Ford car is a great car for women to drive not only because it is so smart and good looking, but also because of its comfort, ease of control, and reliability. Especially its reliability.

You know the Ford will take you there and bring you back. You know you can depend on it. You know it has been built to give you thousands of miles of faithful, uninterrupted service. This freedom from trouble—this mental comfort—means a great deal to every woman who drives a car.

Another feature of the Ford that appeals to women is the safety afforded by the fully enclosed efficient six-brake system, steel body, and shatter-proof glass windshield.

You can see the value of this when you consider that 65% of automobile injuries are caused by flying glass. The windshield of the Ford will not shatter under the hardest impact. A demonstration drive is convincing.

Little Spencer let no grass grow under his feet when uncle came for a visit before rushing up like this: "Uncle, make a noise like a frog."

"Why?" asked the old man. "Cause when I ask daddy for anything he says: 'Wait till your uncle croaks!'"

A little Scotch boy had just returned from a painful interview with the minister to whom he had said in reply to a question, but there were one hundred commandments. Meeting another lad on his way to the minister's, he asked: "Are if he asks you how many commandments there are, what will you say?"

"Say?" replied the other boy, "Why am, of course." "Ten?" said the first urchin in scorn. "Ten? Ye wull try him witen? I tried him a hundred and he was as satisfied."

Vicar (filling in date on baptism certificate): "Let me see. This is the eighteenth, isn't it?" Mother: "Lor lumme, sir, no! Only the sixth!"

An Englishman says the only thing he doesn't like about Canada is the lack of old ruins. "We have 'em, old top, we have 'em. But you can't tell it after they get their paint and powder on."

Calgary nursemaid (earnestly): "Please, mum, I've lost the baby in the park."

Mistress: "Good gracious! Why didn't you speak to a policeman?" Nursemaid: "I did, mum. That's how I lost baby."

Lady (to new hotel-maid engaged by letter): "Why didn't you tell me, when you wrote answering my questions so fully, that you were Scotch, Mary?"

Mary: "I didn't like to be boasting, mam."

A couple of Ambians, Isid and Ismael, were being entertained by a rich friend. As the lack would have it, the conversation drifted from everyday topics.

"Do you like Omar Khayyam?" asked the host, thoughtlessly turning to literature.

Isid plunged heroically in. "Pretty well," he said, "but I like it better Sherry."

Nothing more was said on the subject until the party broke up.

"Isid," said Ismael, on the way home: "Each hummer you made from us in front does rich teller. Why can't you leave it to give things you don't understand? You dunno, Omar Khayyam ain't no vine—it's a cheese."

Some years ago a gentleman in Calgary committed suicide, and left a paper stating that he did so because his wife was a great deal too good for him. That's why the jury returned a verdict, recording their opinion that deceased was of "an unusual state of mind."

Little Charlie's French tutor had been endeavoring to teach her that there are only two genders in the French language—masculine and feminine.

Next day, desirous of learning if the child had remembered, she asked: "How many genders are there in French?"

"Two," came the quick response. Much gratified, the tutor then asked, "And what are they?"

After a moment's reflection, Charlie replied, "Masculine and genuine."

"Where's the car, dad?" asked the son of an absent-minded professor.

"Why, dear me," he said, "I really don't know. Did I take it out?" "You certainly did. You drove it into the town."

"That's very remarkable," replied the professor. "I remember now that after I got out I turned round to thank a gentleman who had given me a lift and wondered where he had gone!"

The flying field was crowded at the finish of the air race, and great was the astonishment when the winning plane descended and out of it stepped an unknown amateur. The representative of the press stepped forward.

"Wonderful achievement!" the spokesman shouted. "You've broken all records for a non-stop flight. How did you do it?"

"Well, to tell you the truth," the rank outsider answered, modestly, "I think luck had something to do with it. I didn't find out till about five minutes ago how to stop the damned thing."

At a small country church a newly married couple were receiving some advice.

"It is the husband's duty to protect his wife whenever an occasion arises; and a wife must love and honor and obey her husband and follow him wherever he goes."

"But—" pleaded the young bride. "I haven't finished yet," remarked the clergyman. "She must—"

"But, please—" in desperation—"don't you alter that last part? My husband is a postman."

Slow Paying Customer: "I've brought in that last pair of trousers to be reamed. You know it's a good job."

Bill Tierney: "Yes, and perhaps you've brought a bill to be receipted. You know I've stood a lot."

Father: "Didn't your friend Jim Gannon, say rather late last night?" Daughter: "Perhaps, but I was showing him some photographs."

Father: "Well, sometime show him some of my light bills."

First Flapper: "I'll say your brother Dick can dance."

Second Flapper: "I know. The university has been the making of him."

ROSEBUD

Rev. Dr. Powell's lecture in the United Church on Friday was well attended. The Ladies Aid clearing a good amount.

The Aid met at the house of Mrs. J. Sangster on Thursday afternoon. Only a few got out because of the bad weather. However, a most enjoyable social time was had. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. H. W. Brunner on June 6th.

W. H. Wynne spent the week end in Calgary.

Mrs. L. P. Parker and Miss Helen moved to Calgary the latter part of the week.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gross in Calgary last Monday. The little one is grand daughter to Rev. Dr. Powell.

Mrs. M. E. Hannum started for Massachusetts on Saturday night, with the remains of her husband, S. W. Hannum. Mrs. Hannum will stay in the east about three months.

ROCKYFORD

A most delightful lunch was enjoyed by the mothers and daughters in the Church Parlors on Monday evening when the C.O.L.T. girls held their annual banquet, about twenty were present. The toast mistress, Miss May Birt, filled her position quite ably. Miss Marjorie Stone was called on to give the toast to the King. Blanche Fraser then gave a toast to the Mothers, and Mrs. Carpenter responded. Beulah Shackman gave a toast to the Church, and Mrs. Gilbert responded. In the musical contest later on, Mrs. Bisset won the honors, and before leaving, Mrs. Black in a few well chosen words, thanked the girls, and their Mentor, Miss Chester, for the splendid banquet and evening.

Mr. P. E. Ryan, formerly of Rockyford, is renewing acquaintances in town while he is here on a business trip. He and his wife and family are at present residing in Calgary.

Miss Barker entertained about ten of her lady friends to five-o'clock tea on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Katterhagen are rejoicing over the birth of a baby girl in Calgary May 18th.

The Ladies Aid met at the home of Mrs. Carpenter on Thursday, with a good attendance despite the rain. Arrangements were made for the "Trip Around the World," which is to be held May 30th, instead of the regular meeting. This will be very interesting as well as unusual for everyone in Rockyford. Owing to Mrs. Gilbert being sick, she was unable to give her talk on Home Missions. This will be given at some later date. Mrs. Jarvis read a humorous sketch to fill in, to which place he has recently been transferred from Winnipeg. Mr. Scott is now connected with the coal business, and as a travelling agent, is doing exceedingly well.

Mr. Guy Scott, who was formerly Crown Lumber agent here, paid his friends in town a flying visit on Friday, while on his way to Saskatoon, to which place he has recently been transferred from Winnipeg. Mr. Scott is now connected with the coal business, and as a travelling agent, is doing exceedingly well.

A young man at the farm of Irvine Katterhagen, had the misfortune to have two fingers cut off on Friday while starting the pump engine.

Despite the bad roads of Friday evening a good crowd of Masons and their wives from home and visiting towns, gathered to enjoy the splendid banquet prepared by the ladies. The tables were beautifully decorated with carnations and Lodge emblems. C. R. Walrod, W.M., was toast master, and proposed the toast to "The King." He then called on Bro. Black for the toast to "The Grand Lodge," to which Bro. Black responded, "I will be very fittingly responded, Bro. Bradwell then toasted "The Visitors," and Bro. Chamberlain, W.M., of Strathmore, responded. Bro. H. W. P.M., in a very flowery language, toasted "The Ladies," and Mrs. Stone very suitably, with her witty rhymes, replied, "Dancing to the strains of the Merry mackerel's Orchestra was very much enjoyed by all for the balance of the evening."

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McCrea, of Lethbridge, arrived here here on Saturday. They report the roads fairly good, considering the amount of rain there has been. Mr. McCrea, who is connected with the North Star Oil Co., was arranging details for the company's station here before returning.

The Lethbridge and the Intermediate baseball teams, of Standard visited Rockyford May 18th, and had a very good game each. The younger had surprised a good many by the pep and good judgment they showed. The game was well contested, and although the home team won, fairly fast and furious in the first part, when the visitors got used to the new diamond and new players, they showed up splendidly. The final score was 12 to 4 in favor of Rockyford. The Intermediate team also played well, and Lawrence Knight, in his first try out as pitcher here, did good work. The score was 10 to 7 in favor of the home team.

The British American Oil Co. are just finishing the erection of a fine new station here. With four tanks, the station will be well equipped to look after the power farming demands.

THE EMPIRE SHOPPING WEEK IN CANADA

A new high record even surpassing the most prosperous war years was reached in Canada's foreign trade for the year 1928. Imports were $1,225,000,000 and exports $1,317,400,000, 000,000 which left a balance of trade in Canada's favor of $152,000,000,000 (including in this total of exports were $24,000,000,000 of re-exports).

The total of Canada's trade for 1928 reached the tremendous figure of $2,542,000,000,000 compared to $2,326,000,000,000 for 1927, an increase of $216,000,000,000.

With a population that ranks 28th among the countries of the world, Canada is fifth in total exports and third in total turnover of goods.

This huge volume of foreign trade is due mainly to three reasons:

1. The rich natural resources of the country.

2. The great purchasing power of the population.

3. The great efforts it is making to increase the external trade of the Dominion.

The United States is the largest supplier of commodities to Canada, total imports from that country during 1928 amounting to $826,000,000,000 an increase from 1927 of $119,000,000,000 when it was $707,000,000,000.

On the other hand exports to the United States from Canada for 1928 amounted to $826,000,000,000 an increase from 1927 of $119,000,000,000.

The deficit as it were, or perhaps it is more correct to call it the balance of trade against us in our dealings with the United States last year amounted to the vast sum of $200,000,000,000 as compared to $222,000,000,000 in 1927.

Among a great many Canadians this situation is causing concern. They are asking the question, "What are we doing to increase our ability to export and catch up with our exports to the United States?"

When we find a strong curb in the flow of an increasing tariff barrier, it is advocated that more effort be made to purchase our requirements from those countries which export the larger share of Canada's exports.

When our minds follow this very logical line of reasoning we find that the British Empire is our best customer.

In 1928 Canada's exports to the British Empire were $545,000,000,000 in comparison with $509,000,000,000 in 1927, an increase of $36,000,000,000.

In 1927, an increase of $45,000,000,000 imports into Canada from the rest of the British Empire were $251,000,000,000 compared to $240,000,000,000 for 1927, an increase of $11,000,000,000.

leaving a balance of trade in our favor of $281,000,000,000 in 1928 and $269,000,000,000 in 1927.

To sum up, we now see that with our best customer the British Empire we buy less from them to the tune of $291,000,000,000 than they from us, and with our next best customer the United States we allow them to sell us $233,000,000,000 worth of goods more than they purchase from us, in addition to which business is made more difficult to secure from them because of their high tariff policy.

There are many good reasons for the condition as we find it, but none that this condition should be allowed to continue as the trend shows, become more adverse each year.

Without considering the matter from the point of view that Canada is a partner in this great organization of the British Empire we saw so practically evidenced in the War it is quite sufficient to study it from the angle of the treatment we would accord our best customer in business. This places us on a very familiar and sound ground for we all know that any reciprocity we can make in business in dealing with those that deal with us is given every consideration.

It is to stimulate trade within the Empire that Empire Shopping Week in Canada is being put over.

Further Increase Production

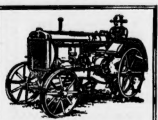

The effect of greater production upon prices is all a matter of the world demand for wheat, and the demand has been increasing in recent years at such a rate as to leave no real basis for the fear of overproduction in Canada. The price of wheat is better now than it was when Canada was exporting only one-quarter of the present amount. There has been a marked increase in the world demand during the last crop year.

In connection with the present rise in the price of wheat, a significant feature of the statement of Mr. E. J. Ramsay, general manager of the central selling agency of the Canadian people is his assertion that, while there was an increase of 200,000,000 bushels in world production last year, this has been in large measure offset by increased consumption. Members of the Department of Economics of the University of Toronto are quoted as taking the same view and saying that the world wheat supply has never been in excess of the ultimate demand, and that there will be a favorable market reaction yet. The food research institute of Leland Stanford University also subscribes to the view that the greater production of last year was largely counterbalanced by increased consumption.

There is no question as to the growth in demand both in Europe and in other countries. Mr. Ramsay says that Europe produced 127,000,000 bushels more of wheat last year than in the previous year, and still has increased its imports from other continents to date by 25,000,000 bushels. The demand from more or less underdeveloped countries will increase with the advance in their economic development, which will raise their purchasing power and their standard of living. And modern equipment and the use of outside capital is likely to accelerate each development, which will raise their purchasing power and their standard of living. And modern equipment and the use of outside capital is likely to accelerate each development, which will raise their purchasing power and their standard of living.

While wheat export experts have been increasing those of the United States have been showing a tendency to decline. The wheat export problem there is quite different from that in Canada. The cost of production is so much higher in the United States, owing to a variety of causes, that the United States farmer can hope for no profit at the export price, while in Canada the farmer has the advantage of lower production costs, and is able to compete on the world market.

The superiority of wheat as a food product will lead to its steadily wider use as the millions of people who have not been using it become able to do so. The demand is likely to keep up with the increased production, and the continued settlement of Canada's vacant lands is, therefore, not likely to affect the export price.

AN EDITOR ROBBED

The Glenlivet editor was at work Tuesday afternoon, trying to dash off two grey gals appeared on the scene and wished to tell his fortune, but he refused. They soon retired and a few minutes later your editor found that all his capital ($4 to be exact) had disappeared from his pocket. He thereupon let a yell and dashed madly down the street looking for the girls, but they had left town. We heard this morning that all the gals were in Bassano last night. Wonder if they paid the editor of the Bassano Mail a visit?

Query—Where did he get that $4?
